

Presentation Skills Coaching

Learn one-on-one in a private coaching clinic

The ability to conduct persuasive presentations with confidence is an essential management skill. This private one-day coaching clinic affords you the opportunity to address your personal presentation skills requirements in a candid and confidential environment.

The clinic is facilitated by Stuart Ayling, an experienced speaker and trainer in presentation skills and Managing Director of Marketing Nous.

This clinic is ideal for:

- Executives and managers
- Consultants and advisors
- Entrepreneurs
- Engineers
- Scientists
- ... and other professionals

Effective presentation skills to look good, sound great, and get a positive response.

During your personal presentation skills coaching clinic you will learn how to successfully design and deliver effective face-to-face presentations – whether to boardroom groups, client meetings, or large conference audiences. At the clinic there is no time wasted covering irrelevant topics. Your needs are individually catered for with discussion and practice centred around your specific presentation requirements.

Clinics may be held on your premises, or off-site in central CBD locations in capital cities ensuring easy access, minimising distractions and potential disturbances from your office, phones, and colleagues.

The clinic format is suitable for all presenters, even those with little previous experience in giving presentations. You will focus on your current presentation objectives, learn practical skills, and achieve significant personal progress.

What will be covered at the clinic?

- How to properly plan and structure your presentation.
- How to open with impact and grab audience attention.
- How to anticipate and manage difficult questions.
- The best way to use visuals.
- Tips and techniques for managing nerves and anxiety.
- What to avoid when using modern presentation technologies.
- Tips and strategies for using PowerPoint to avoid boredom.
- How to recognise habits that can destroy your presentation.
- How to maintain control over your time.
- What to do if things go wrong.

Clinic inclusions:

- Pre-clinic discussion and review of your presentation purpose and material (PowerPoint, handouts etc).
- Personal 5-hour coaching clinic including practice and video review.
- Post-clinic review session after an actual presentation (including review of video footage if available).
- 3-months direct access to the trainer.
- Comprehensive learning guide.
